

Report of the Aspiring Educators Committee
Submitted by Adrienne Kruger, Wayne State College

The Nebraska State Education Association Aspiring Educators had a wonderful and busy year! This past year a bylaw was passed, proposing the name change of the Student Education Association of Nebraska to Nebraska State Education Association Aspiring Educators.

Because of COVID-19 we were challenged to use a virtual format for our events. In November we held our first virtual fall conference for this year. We had a great turn out of almost 100 students in attendance. Our members had the opportunity to learn about effective parent/teacher communication, resume building and polishing interviewing skills. A fall conference incentive for members who registered was a T-shirt with the new Aspiring Educators branding. The shirts and other branded items were shipped to attendees.

In the new year, three bylaws were proposed and passed at our Delegate Assembly. Our focus remains on increasing membership on campuses across the state and bringing the voice of the Aspiring Educators into the discussion of education. This year has been unique, and we accomplished the tasks set before us. NSEA AE continues to make a difference and the future looks promising as we begin our active teaching roles.
