Upcoming opportunities for students and families:

- Nov. 7th @ 5:30 pm – LPS district offices will host a special event featuring the artwork of our Native students.
- Nov. 9th @ 5:30 pm – The Indian Center will be hosting Dr. Steve Joel for a community conversation.
- Nov. 30th – UNL will be hosting the Leadership Symposium for Native Youth. Register at admissions.unl.edu/events.

Students are encouraged to apply for Champions of Change at the Center for Native American Youth (CNAY). Applications are due Nov. 15th and can be found on the CNAY website.

Seniors are encouraged to check out all scholarships available this year. A large list of scholarships can be found on the CNAY website as well.

College students interested in politics should check out the Native American Political Leadership Program (NAPLP). Applications are available on their website and awardees can study at George Washington University in DC for a semester.

(I'll bring hard copies of the items mentioned above to the EMAC meeting. Most items are available on line as well).

All members are encouraged to join the NEA American Indian/Alaska Native Caucus to keep abreast of current issues!
